As revealed in the newly released earth-shattering emails obtained through FOIA, Dr. Anthony Fauci and John T. Brooks appear to have participated in a disturbing “March Madness” disease bracket in March 2020.

“Dr. Fauci’s March Madness Bracketology Picks” are divided into four main sections, appearing to be the East, West, South, and Midwest areas of the United States. Diseases listed on the bracket include Coronavirus, SARS, MERS, Zika, West Nile, Rabies, Polio, among others. It appears that Coronavirus won the competition and was declared “CHAMPION.” Meanwhile, a circled signature in the center of the bracket reads “Tony F.”

The email was sent to Fauci by the CDC's John T. Brooks, a “medical epidemiologist with the Division of HIV/AIDS Prevention, National Center for HIV/AIDS, Viral Hepatitis, STD, and TB Prevention.”

“Cheers,” wrote Brooks. “Apologies for errors in my messages that may be due to my need to dictate.”

In a separate email exchange with Sylvia Burwell, who served 11 years at the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, Fauci said that the “typical mask you buy in the drug store is not really effective” in stopping COVID-19, adding that the virus is “small enough to pass through the material,” as National File reported.

Sylvia:

Masks are really for infected people to prevent them from spreading infection to people who are not infected rather than protecting uninfected people from acquiring infection. The typical mask you buy in the drug store is not really effective in keeping out virus, which is small enough to pass through the material. It might, however, provide some slight benefit in keep out gross droplets if someone coughs or sneezes on you. I do not recommend that you wear a mask, particularly since you are going to a vey low risk location. Your instincts are correct, money is best spent on medical countermeasures such as diagnostics and vaccines.

Safe travels.

Best regards,
Tony

National File senior reporter Patrick Howley, who first broke the story exposing Fauci's funding of "gain of function" research at the Wuhan lab in China, noted that "Fauci initially told people not to wear masks before changing his stance on the issue, and American children have been wearing the slave masks in large part due to Fauci's advice. We now know that Fauci does not actually believe in the merit of masks, and he was willing to tell a well-connected former Obama administration apparatchik one thing while later telling America the exact opposite." Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg sent an email to Fauci on March 17, 2020, thanking him for his "leadership" during the early stages of the COVID-19 pandemic, and offering to use Facebook as a platform to share Fauci's messages about COVID-19. Fauci saw the value in Zuckerberg's offer, noting that Facebook would spread Fauci's message more effectively than television, as National File reported.

In a separate instance reporter Donald McNeil sent an email to Fauci referring to Americans as "selfish pigs" for their behavior during the early stages of the pandemic, and the Chinese as "heroic" – citing a well-known state propaganda outlet for the Chinese Communist Party, which Fauci appeared to have concurred, as National File reported.

You make some very good points, Donald.

I was just watching the HHS briefing online, and thinking about an article I read this morning, and Bruce Aylward's description of what he saw in China, and a lot of videos I've watched on the South China Morning Post website (they're doing great coverage.).

In China, we in the media tend to report the horrors and the lockdown and the government's early lies...

But the truth is that a lot of average Chinese behaved incredibly heroically in the face of the virus: 25,000 doctors and nurses went into Wuhan to help, knowing they might die. Average people gave up their stockpiles of masks so they could be shipped to Wuhan. Neighborhood committees brought food to thousands of little old ladies and checked on them every day, even as they asked them to stay behind their doors for fear of infection.

Meanwhile, in America, people tend to act like selfish pigs interested only in saving themselves. How can I hoard a mask? Where's my vaccine? This morning, I read this appalling article from Alabama. Here you have Americans coming back from a horrifying experience overseas, and the President -- who is popular in Alabama -- asks Alabamans to take some of those fellow Americans in. There is zero risk because they're going to be housed on a naval base.

And yet, the answer is "No! Keep them out!" And their legislators encourage it....

I dunno -- that's the kind of behavior I expect from my fellow New Yorkers, not from Alabama.

If the virus arrives -- and we both know it will -- America is going to have to do better than that. Like the Chinese, Americans are going to have to look out for each other the way we haven't since 9/11. Or maybe since World War II.

But that's not the tone of the HHS briefings. They're an aggressive, defensive, almost smart-alecky "we got this" tone. The only time the tone was right when you
